Other lights are to be placed today and probably an ordinance will be presented to council for first action on the proposed new lighting system.

"THE GREATEST EVIL" IS MISSION SERMON THEME

Rev. R. L. Hayes Declares Man Who Sins Wilfully is One of Most Dispicable Creatures, A Traitor.

"The Greatest Evil" was the theme Rev. R. L. Hayes treated in his sermon Monday evening to a large crowd attending the mission service at St. Jerome's Catholic church. Congregational singing was a feature. Many were present from other towns. Rev. Hayes says in part:

"The most important work any man has to do in the world is to honor God by saving his own soul. The one thing that can endanger that great work of salvation is mortal sin. Mortal sins are not deeds done in ignorance but wilful, conscious violations of God's sacred law in matters gravely important. There are men who think a sin is wrong because it brings disgrace—because it is accompanied by some temporal punishment. Hence they will avoid intemperance and licentiousness as long as their disgrace is not public. This is as erroneous view of sin.

"The malice of sin is within a man: his will is at variance with the will of God. The external action may add some secondary disgrace , but the real malice of sin is in the state, the condition of mas' soul.

"A traitor, a rebel is the most despicable of men. Mortal sin is revolt against the Creator. God has given everyone the notion of right and wrong. God wrote His laws in the very nature of man and implanted in man's conscience the obligation of serving them. Mortal sin is a transgression of that law. All nature obeys the laws of the universe. Man alone of all creation, by mortal sin, raises the standard of revolt and says: "I will not serve."

"Mortal sin is the one evil in the world that really counts, because it is the one evil that reaches into eternity. Other injuries may be remedied: "Sin when it is completed, begetteth death." Mortal sin is beneath the dignity of man. God placed His very honor in man's keeping when He gave man His commandments. It is God's glory when man proves faithful—it is man's perfection when he remains obedient."

This evening Rev. G. T. Scheer will deliver the sermon on 'The Universal Sentinel."

TENTH TROOPS WILL RETURN TO ARMORIES

Will Not Go to Mt. Gretna to be Mustered Out as at First Ordered—Change in Time of Departure From Border Set Ahead to Thursday

Orders in reference to the departure of the First, Third and Tenth infantries of the Pennsylvania division from Camp Stewart were changed Monday.

The First infantry will leave Camp Steart today instead of Wednesday; the Third infantry will leave Wednesday and the Tenth infantry on Thursday.

Instead of going to Mt. Gretna to be mustered out of the service these organizations will return to their respective armories where they will be examined by the medical corps officers of the regular army

The change in the time of departure was hailed with delight by the members of the Tenth regiment, the only Western Pennsylvania organization affected, and that part of the orders, which directed that the commands return directly to their armories mustered out of the service, proved especially pleasing.

The work of packing up equipment and of preparing supplies for the journey home, which had been going on steadily ever since the first order to leave, was hastened and the regiment will be ready to go before Thursday, if necessary.

Just what time the command will arrive home, or by what route it will travel, has not been made known. It is probable, however, that the regiment will keep together until Pittsburg is reached and that the companies will separate there

SAYS SHE WAS MADE MARRY MAN SHE DID NOT LOVE

Pretty Italian Lass Arrested Here Complains of Husband's Treatment —Court Advises Her to Wait.

"I was going with the man I loved when my parents forced me to marry another man," said Ella Ferrette. an attractive looking young Italian girl to the court Monday, when she entered a plea of guilty to adultry at Washington. Beside her stood the man, Rocco Romeo, whom she had loved prior to her marriage and whom she says she still loves He entered a plea of guilty to having unlawfully lived with Mrs. Ferrette

The young woman was born and reared in Uniontown, but her parents are natives of Italy. She has one or two children. She did not love the man to whom she was married and consequently they did not get along well together. They had quarrels and he finally drove her from his home. It was then she went to Charleroi and consorted with Romeo, her former sweetheart. His story was that when the woman's husband drove her from her home she came to him. He was sorry for her and agreed to provide for her. They began living together and he supported her and her baby.

The woman's husband has applied for a divorce and if he gets it she and Rocco will be married. The court believed the woman was more sinned against than sinning. She was paroled, but was warned to stay away from Romeo, until at least she was divorced. Romeo was fined $25 and costs.

NERVES

How many people live on their nerves. That is what the state health commissioner is asking in his weekly chat on health and hygiene. He says.

Do you live on your nerves? Possibly you do and boast of it as if it was something to do proud of.

Despite ideas to the contrary few people ever work than [illegible] It is usually the combination of business and pleasure at a strenuous pace which does the damage.

It is so easy to go a little further on your nerves when you know that physically you need rest and relaxation. There may be times of stress and strain when it is justifiable to exert every atom of endurance but this is only under special circumstances. To practice it regularly in order to over crowd one's days is certain to result disastrously.

There is much in our modern life with its diversity of interests which tends to excite and irritate the nervous system. We should make an effort to offset this as much as possible. One may find pleasure and diversion without rushing madly about under high pressure.

People who live on their nerves until nervousness becomes chronic find that it brings a train of evils, indigestion, worry, excitability, temper, and restlessness, all great handicaps to efficient work and rational pleasure.

DRESS PRECAUTIONS

This is the time of year when health precautions are most necessary, since it is a dangerous season, half-summer, half-winter. that is likely to lead us into indiscretions. The large number of people who are suffering from colds and near attacks of the grip indicate the trend.

It is hard to dress in a period like this. One is inclined to dress either too warm or else to take risks with insufficient clothing. Changing from light summer duds to winter flannels and back again won't do Better try to strike the happy medium and through proper exercise ward off the cold that is threatening.

COMPANY A WELCOME

Company A, Tenth Regiment, has headquarters in Monongahela, but it includes among its members a number of Charleroi young men who enlisted among the first when the call was issued. Therefore it is befitting that Charleroi should help along in whatever celebration plans are under way for their return.

When the boys of '98 returned from the Philippines, minus many of their number, they were greeted with a home-coming reception that was a sight to behold. Charleroi performed its part and the noble lads honored then will never forget the occasion.

True the Tenth soldiers haven't done at the Mexican border what the former Tenth command did in the Philippines, but this was true only because fate stepped in to prevent actual hostilities. Yet as before remarked their sacrifice was made with the same graceful spirit and they deserve the same recognition. When the boys return let us be ready.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

* * * * * * * * * * *

HOW PEOPLE GET INTO DEBT.

Efforts are being made in a good many places to observe National Pay-Up Week, October 2-7. This will not affect the many people whose good cheer is not dampened by the storm of duns coming in the first of each month. But there are many other dilatory persons who should have sense enough to see the folly of running behind-hand. Such may be induced by agitation of the subject to strive for better business habits.

It is surprising how comfortable some people are in the presence of a heavy burden of debt. They take the easy going view that some favorable turn of fortune will appear from unexpected sources. They let the creditors do all the worrying. But to people with normal minds, debt brings a sense of oppression and often horror. They feel the ever present wolf at the door. He seems very near and very hungry. They slink around street corners to avoid meeting a creditor.

The principal cause of debt is failure rightly to calculate and apportion one's income. With most people, their expenses for any given object exceed their expectations. If they think they can run a house on $1 a week, it actually costs them $20 But meanwhile they have gone ahead and spent money for other purposes on the visionary basis of the $15.

This miscalculation, except in cases of special misfortune can be saved by the simple expedient of keeping a cash account. At the end of the year all expenses should be carefully classified. No account should be allowed to exceed what seems a reasonable appropriation. This would leave money in the purse to pay bills and a man could walk the streets with a right to hold up his head.

A general spirit of debt paying will do wonders in building up a community. The merchants will not have to charge so much for their goods if they can avoid bad accounts. They will feel more confidence to go ahead and spend money and make impovements and the whole town will grow and prosper—New Castle Herald

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Fellow dropped into the office the other day and ordered the paper and we were pleased. Said it was a good paper and we were glad. Said it was more than worth the money to any man of intelligence, and we were tickled. Said it was the mainstay of the town, and we were super-tickled. Said it was the greatest booster and the most reliable town builder in this whole community. and we yelled with joy. Paid for his paper and—we slid gently to the floor in blissful unconsciousness. Nature had reached its limit.—Altoona Tribune.

Sandy boarded a crowded car and obeyed the conductor promptly when he told the passengers to move up. The car started on its way. but stopped at the next block to admit other passengers and again Sandy moved up. The operation was repeated block after block, and Sandy had been as obliging as possible. Finally he reached his destination, and as he passed the conductor he was gripped by the arm and pulled back.

"You didn't pay you fare!" said the man.

"Fare be blowed!" exlaimed Sandy "Why, mon. alive, I've been walking all the way."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

WORTH AS MUCH AS TWO WEEKS HARD TRAINING

Tanlac Quickly and Surely Put H. Mason, Pugilist, in Pink of Condition

"Tanlac is worth almost as much to me as a two week's hard training," said H. Mason, athlete and pugilist of 1906 State Street, Erie, Pa.

"I suffered from stomach trouble and a catarrhal affection, the latter having been brought about by my contracting cold after a ten-round bout at the Harlem Athletic Club last Thanksgiving afternoon.

"It seemed as though my nutrition was retarded and my strength was leaving me rapidly.

"I would awaken at night from cold sweats.

"I could not eat with any satisfaction and as a consequence my stomach went completely back on me.

"I bought some of this new medicine, Tanlac, because a friend told me about it, and because he recommended it to me so highly.

"Since using Tanlac my stomach has resumed its normal condition. I eat fine and sleep well. I am as strong as ever; in fact, I feel like I am fit for the battle of my life.

"This Tanlac is certainly a great strength giver. It beats anything I have ever seen. I am going to keep the medicine around handy to take in the future. You certainly can bet on that."

Tanlac is now sold in Charleroi exclusively by Pipers Pharmacy where the premier preparation can be had.

GREENSBURG MACHINE RAMS INTO CHARLEROI FORD CAR

The Ford car used by Floyd Bonnell of Charleroi as a jitney bus in the trade between Charleroi and Belle Vernon was badly damaged about noon today when run into by a Ford driven by C D. Firster of Greensburg half way to Speers. Bonnell was going toward Speers. Masters' grocery wagon was passing when the Greensburg machine approached. Bonnell noticed the car was not being well controlled and drew two feet to one side of the road. Firster struck him head on. The whole front of the Bonnell car was left a total wreck. The Firster machine was damaged about the steering gear and an axle. Blame is placed on Firster who it is claimed was speeding. The wreck heppened on the right side of the road. With Bonnell at the time was M L. Hartzeil of Bentleyville, I. R Bush of Belle Vernon and S. P. Fields of Belle Vernon.

HIS TWO TENSE MOMENTS.

One a Ninth Inning Crisis, the Other a Dinner Table Climax.

I heard a prominent Cambridge man tell of the two most tense moments of his life. But the tension in each case was different.

"I doubt if I ever shall forget either occasion," he said reflectively. "They were big moments.

"The first was when I was in college. I was captain of the baseball team that year. We came to the end of the ninth. We needed one run to tie the score and another to win the game. Two men were down and two on the sacks when I came to bat. And for once in my career I did it. I lined out a three bagger right over the railroad tracks. When I felt it go—well, that was one occasion.

"And the other." He chuckled, but a slow flush crept over his cheeks "It was thirty years ago, soon after I left college. I went over to see a girl I thought was pretty nice and to meet her folks for the first time. I went on a Sunday. All the men were away. And they had duck for dinner." He stopped. "Ever carve a duck?" he asked meaningly. "No, neither had I before. Nor have I since." His flush deepened. "I never went to see that girl again," he added plaintively —Boston Journal.

BONEHEAD BASEBALL.

One Curious Break That Even the Umpires Did Not Notice.

Baseball's champion foolish play was made in a game between Washington and the White Sox in 1907. In that battle Larry Schlafly was captain of the Washingtons and also played second base

At the end of an early inning Schlafly went out to telephone or buy a goat or something and was delayed so long that the Senators had three men put out before his return.

The Sox come trotting in for their turn at bat. Washington took the field, with only eight men and nobody on second, and the game went on that way till Fielder Jones hit one straight across second Then, and not till then, was it discovered that there was nobody on second base

Incredible as it may seem, nineteen men—seventeen players and two umpires—had started the half inning in this fashion and not one of them got wise till Jones' hit shot over the empty station.

Schlafly reappeared at this juneture and the umpires decided that the hit was illegal when made with only eight men in the field. Jones had to go back and bat over.—New York Sun.

Calamities of Authors.

Homer was a beggar; Plautus turned a mill; Terence was a slave; Cervantes the author of "Don Quixote," died of hunger, Bacon lived a life of meanness and distress; Raleigh died on the scaffold; Spenser, the charming, died in want; the death of Collins was through neglect, first causing mental derangement; Milton sold his copyright of "Paradise Lost" for £15; Dryden died in poverty and distress; Otway died prematurely and through hunger; Lee died in the gutter. Steele lived a life of perfect warfare with bailiffs; Goldsmith's "Vicar of Wakefield" was sold for a trifle to save him from the grip of law; Savage died in prison at Bristol, where he was confined for a debt of £8, Butler lived a life of penury and died poor; Chatterton, the child of genius and misfortune, destroyed himself.

Naming the Gerrymander.

The gerrymander was christened in 1813, although it must have been in operation long before that. A stanch old Federalist, Governor Elbridge Gerry, controlled through his legislature the redistricting of Massachusetts under the census of 1810. In the office of Benjamin Russell, an ardent Republican editor, hung a map of the state as newly subdivided by Gerry and his men. Gilbert Stuart's ready pencil whimsically added to the outlines of a grotesque district the wings and tail of a dragon.

"Ha!" he said when he had finished. "How's that for a salamander?"

The Republican Russell growled, "Better call it a gerrymander." And American politicians have taken his advice.

Barley Water.

Sometimes the doctor orders barley or oatmeal water for baby. When such is the case prepare as follows:

Add two tablespoonfuls of washed pearl barley or of oatmeal, as the case may be, to a quart of cold water. Boil this down to a pint, cooking slowly for about two hours. Then strain while hot and add a sufficient quantity of cold boiled water to make a quart of the fluid. Keep cool in a covered jar.

Jellyfish.

The bay of Naples abounds in medusae, or jellyfish, often growing as large as two feet in diameter and weighing fifty and sixty pounds. Some of them shine at night with a greenish light and are known as "noctiluca" (night lanterns) by the natives.

The Limit.

"They say old Closefist has still got the first dollar he ever made."

"Yes, and I'll bet he has still got the first umbrella he ever borrowed."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

About.

"What did your baby cry about last night?" asked the man next door.

"About five hours," replied Mr. Youngpop.—Exchange.

CENTENNIAL TO BE NOTABLE AFFAIR

Pittsburgh's Celebration Will Be Held Oct. 29-Nov. 4

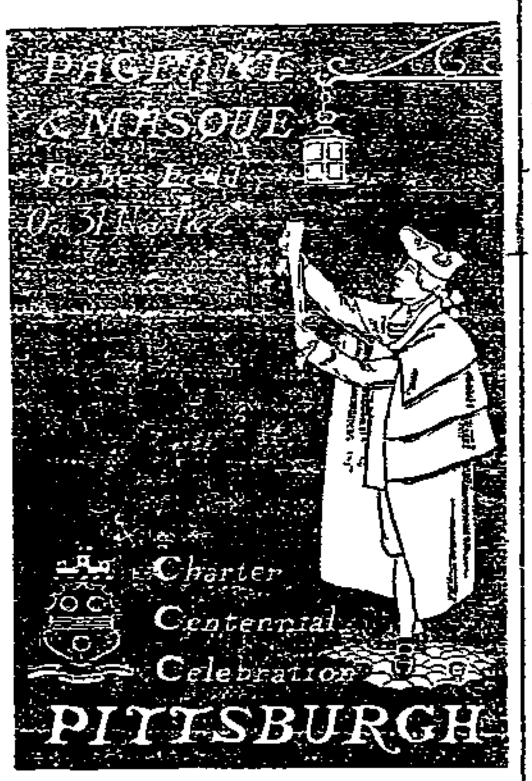
GORGEOUS PAGEANT PLANNED

Many Characters of City and Country Will Be Represented in Parade by Descendants of Old Families—100 Allegorical Floats Promised.

The City Charter Centennial celebration has been postponed four weeks, or from the week Oct. 1-7 to the week Oct. 29-Nov. 4, because of the order of the state health department closing the schools during September. This prevented rehearsals being held for the great historical pageant to be held at Forbes Field in which [illegible] young people will take part. The postponement, while regretted at the time, has, however, resulted in the assurance that the whole celebration will be much greater than it would have been if it had taken place on the days originally named.

The pageant and masque of freedom, which will now be held at Forbes Field on the evenings of Oct. 31st, Nov. 1st and 2nd, will be presented in much better and more complete form by reason of the additional time secured for perfecting arrangements and holding rehearsals. In this pageant 1,500 young people belonging to the various educational institutions and dramatic associations of Pittsburgh will take part. An interesting feature will be the fact that descendants of prominent early residents of the city will assume historical characters such as Washington, Celeron, Monroe, Lincoln, Grant, Langley and other noted Americans and Frenchmen who figured largely in the early history of this section.

The Book of the Pageant, written by Professor George M. P. Baird of the University of Pittsburgh, who is also director of the whole affair, has been pronounced by competent authorities to be one of the best ever written in this country. The stage setting for the pageant will contain some notable features, including a steam curtain which will be used between scenes of the pageant. During the intervals between the pageant scenes, a chorus of 1,000 voices will entertain the audience with music, while at the same time a large number of character dances will be presented. It is planned that there will be "something doing" every minute during the performance, either the pageant scenes, singing or dancing, so that there will not be a dull moment for the audience.



Another result of the postponement of the celebration will be that the parade on Friday, Nov. 3rd, will be much greater than was originally contemplated. In fact, it is now assured that it will be the largest procession ever held in Pittsburgh. Already more than 100 artistic floats have been promised and the number is constantly increasing. In the great Sesqui-Centennial celebration of 1908 there were only 60 such floats.

The celebration will be immediately preceded by a special Charter Centennial Night at the Pittsburgh Exposition on the evening of Saturday, Oct. 28th, at which Creator's fine band will render a special program of music by Pittsburgh composers.

On Sunday, Oct. 29th, there will be special religious services in all the churches and a great union service at the Soldiers' Memorial Hall in the afternoon.

On the evening of Monday, Oct. 30th, Education Day, prizes will be presented to the school children of the city for the best essays on subjects relating to the history of Pittsburgh.

The next three evenings, Oct. 31st, Nov. 1st and 2nd, will be occupied by the pageant at Forbes Field. On Friday, Nov. 3rd, the great parade will take place, which will be participated in by many organizations of Pittsburgh and of Allegheny county. In the evening a great banquet will be held at the William Penn hotel at which men of national reputation will speak and at which members of the State Editorial association will be guests. On Saturday, Nov. 4th, there will be a "[illegible]" game at Forbes Field and other sports.

SCOTS AS FIGHTERS.

They Won Fame In Former Days Under Many Different Flags.

It would be difficult to find an army in Europe which did not contain descendants of the Scottish soldier of fortune. In Sweden Gustavus Adolphus had four lieutenant generals, twenty-two colonels and many other inferior officers, all Scotsmen, in his service. He owned that his conquests in Germany were due to the valor of these gallant Scots.

In Muscovy the Bruces, the Gordons and [illegible]

Even in Germany [illegible] was to be [illegible] and a General [illegible] was a Scot [illegible]

It was in France, however, that the Scot was rated most highly. The old saying ran, "Fidele comme un Escossais." Louis [illegible] these soldiers that he ordained that his body should be guarded night and day by twenty-four Scotsmen. This Scots bodyguard was continued to the reign of the kings without intermission for [illegible] years.

King Charles VII. raised another company of Scots called "Gens d'Armes d'Escosse," consisting of 100 horses and 200 archers. This force had precedence of all the French troops.—London Chronicle.

HEADS OF ODD SHAPE.

The Kilon, Lafton and Maqbon as Described In the Talmud.

It is a matter familiar to every student of the Bible that the Hebrew priests were required to be physically as well as morally perfect—without a bodily defect or blemish—in order to be eligible to service in the temple. The Talmud, in the tractate Bechoroth, says a writer in the Medical Record, enumerates several defects which disqualify a priest from ministering in his holy office. Among these are the kilon, the lafton and the maqbon.

The condition of kilon is ascribed as a person having a peculiarly shaped head, which is pointed at the top and broad at the bottom. The lafton was a man with a head shaped exactly the opposite of the preceding. To use the expression of the Talmud, he had a head very broad at the top and narrow at the bottom, like a lefes—i. e., a pumpkin.

The expression maqbon, derived from the word hammer, refers to a hammer shaped head or, as the Talmud describes it, one with a prominent and projecting forehead and occiput.

The terse descriptions of the kilon head and lafton head given by the Talmud could not be improved on by any modern textbook in medicine.

Osman Pasha's Daring.

One of the most gallant generals that ever surrendered to the enemy was Osman Pasha, the immortal defender of Plevna. Surrounded by an immeasurably superior army of Russia, Osman kept his flag flying for 142 days, inflicting a loss of 40,000 men on the enemy and losing 30,000 of his own garrison. It was only when both provisions and ammunition failed that he decided on that desperate attempt to cut his way through the investing army. The attempt, one of the most daring and resolute in history, failed, and Osman was at last compelled to admit defeat. So impressed, however, were the enemy with his valor that as he was carried wounded through their ranks they greeted him as a conqueror with cheers and presented arms.

Two Days In One.

Chatham island, lying off the coast of New Zealand, in the south Pacific ocean, is peculiarly situated, as it is one of the few habitable points of the globe where the day of the week changes. It is just on the line of the demarcation between dates. There at 12 noon on Sunday Sunday ceases and instantly Monday meridian begins. Sunday comes into a man's house on the east side and becomes Monday by the time it passes out of the western door. A man sits down to his noonday dinner on Sunday, and it is Monday noon before he finishes it.—London Globe.

Painting Overhead.

When it is necessary to paint a window or any object overhead the paint or liquid usually runs off the handle of the brush and then over the worker's hands. If you will take two pieces of tin soldered at the ends, says C. H. Thomas in the Popular Science Monthly and tack them on either side of the brush below the bristles, you will have a little cup which catches this overflow paint. Each time the brush is dipped into the paint can the shield is automatically emptied.

Sure.

Mrs. Smiley—Here we've been married ten years, and my husband still says I'm an angel. Her Friend—But does he really mean it, my dear? Mrs. S.—Perhaps not. But don't you think I'm lucky to have a husband who pretends to mean it?—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Architecture.

A distinguished philosopher spoke of architecture as frozen music, and his assertion caused many to shake their heads. We believe this really beautiful idea could not be better reintroduced than by calling architecture silent music.—Goethe.

His Choice.

"A bad beginning means a good ending."

"That may be, but if I can have my choice I'll take the fine start every time."—Detroit Free Press.

Ever tag along in the wake of a smoke-sputtering, gas-coughing car or truck that had you sputtering and coughing in turn? Yes, we all have. And more than once we could have been arrested for what we thought of the driver in the car ahead. With careful driving and proper lubrication, cars should not smoke—with the emphasis on "proper lubrication."

Atlantic Polarine is "proper lubrication" for eight out of ten cars. It is the famous year-round oil that is exactly right under all driving conditions.

In all alternative cases, one of the other three principal motor oils—Atlantic "Light," Atlantic "Medium" or Atlantic "Heavy"—is the one to use.

Here is a group of four motor oils produced by the oldest and largest manufacturers of lubricating oils in the entire world.

The group is a result of patient research and experimentation conducted in a manner that a plant of smaller size and equipment could not have attempted. Motor experts and oil specialists seriously recommend these oils as the correct lubricants for YOU.

In actual tests it has been demonstrated that a properly lubricated car will often yield as much as five more miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Ask your garageman which of these four oils is best suited to your particular car, then buy that oil—and use it.

Read up on this subject. We have published a handsome and comprehensive book about lubrication. It is free. Ask your garage for it. If they cannot supply you drop us a postal and the book will be sent you without charge.
